Over 700 Applications at Clemson.

Clemson College, September 17.—The annual session of Clemson College for 1906-7, the fourteenth year of the institution, opened Wednesday. Nearly 700 applications for admission have been accepted, which means that, making allowances for the ones who do not come after applying, and for the return home of some who do not succeed in passing the examinations, there will be an attendance when the work of the session gets under way of about 630 students, the full capacity of the institution.

Of the total number accepted 428 are old students, which is a larger proportion than formerly. The present in the history of the college, and the prospects are that next June will see the largest graduating class ever turned out from Clemson. The class of 1903 and the class of 1906, each numbering 60 men, have been the largest so far.

Besides those accepted, 240 applicants have been refused admission for this session on account of lack of dormitory and other accommodations, 180 from this State and 60 from other States. Nothing shows better than do these figures the need of the new dormitory, which the board of trustees have already authorized, and which will be furnished in time for the opening of the session beginning in September, 1907.

Entrance examinations for new students and "make-up" examinations for old students who were conditioned last year, began this morning and will continue through the week. All other students begin regular class work at once. The full teaching force is on hand, those who had been away for the summer or a part of it having returned during the last ten days.

J. L. Woodruff, a graduate in the class of 1906, has won by civil service competitive examination a flattering position as assistant civil engineer in the War Department for the Philippines, and will shortly leave to take up his work there. Prof. Brodie, of the department of mathematics and civil engineering, says that he is having many requests from various sources for Clemson men.

Four Crazy Negroes Raise Riot.

Greenville, September 14.—Suffering from emotional insanity, superinduced, it is believed, by religion, four of the best negroes in Anderson county late yesterday afternoon became violent, pulled one white man from his horse and forced him to flee for his life, wounding a white man, stoned the white man and his wife when they offered resistance and finally barricaded themselves in their cottages, where they sturdily resisted all efforts made to arrest them until yesterday morning. One of the four negroes was shot while in the house and died yesterday. The other three have been lodged in the jail in Anderson.

Reed Anderson, sixty-five years old, William Anderson, Elsie Anderson and Aaron Anderson, all of the same family, were the four negroes. They together own more than two hundred acres of fine farming land and are generally regarded as the most respectable negroes in the county. All four of them became violently insane Tuesday evening and met Talmage Merritt, who was pulled from his horse and forced to flee for his life. Later the negroes went down the road and came to the place of James Long and tore down his mail box. When Mr. and Mrs. Long ordered them away they stoned the farmer, and his wife was cut by the flying missiles. The negroes were captured and tied, but they broke away and went to their cottages, where they barricaded the doors. A large crowd of white people gathered about the house and waited outside, it being evident that the crazed negroes were armed.

Dr. W. A. Tripp, hoping to administer some sleeping potion, finally gained admittance, but was shot in the face and hurled through the door. He is not seriously hurt.

Finally Sheriff Scott, of Anderson county, was admitted by the negroes and the maniacs were handcuffed. Reed Anderson was shot in the melee and will die. Mrs. Long was not seriously hurt by the rocks.

The affair created excitement, but there were no efforts made at lynching, as the negroes were very favorably known, and it was easily seen that their reason had been dethroned.

First Heavy Frost.

Ballston, N. Y., September 15.—The mercury dropped forty degrees during the night and was followed by the first heavy frost of the season.

McKinley Memorial.

Columbus, Ohio, September 14.—The statue erected in memory of President McKinley by the people of Ohio, was unveiled today in this city. Mrs. Nicholas Longworth did the unveiling, while Senator J. W. Daniel, of Virginia, representing the South, and United States Supreme Court Justice Wm. R. Day, for the North, delivered the principal addresses. The memorial cost $50,000.

He Was Dressed as a Woman.

Greenville, September 14.—Will Garmany, the Greenville negro convict who escaped about a week ago, was captured here yesterday by two officers. The negro was found at the home of his mother, near the city. He was wearing a dress and attempting to pass as a woman. Garmany has been lodged in jail and will be sent back to the penitentiary to continue serving his seven-year sentence for manslaughter.
